

George and the DRAGON

Hello! Come and meet George. George is a very brave, young knight. He's brave and strong, but he's polite and clever too. George wants to help the world. So, one day, he puts on his armour and helmet and he takes his sword. And off he goes on a long, long journey. But before he goes, his friends give him some magic crystals.

George knows the world is full of monsters and bad people. But he knows there are good people in the world too. George wants to help the good people and fight the bad people. He puts the crystals in his pocket.

George and the DRAGON

castle

Soon, George comes to a strange land. There isn't any grass here, and the sun doesn't shine. There is only a castle behind a high, high wall. Suddenly, he sees a girl. She's sitting on the high wall.

There aren't any trees or people here. Where is everybody? And what's that awful smell?

Please, please go away! There is a dragon in our land. It eats people and it can eat you too! It breathes fire and it eats all our animals. But now, we haven't got any more animals, so it's chasing us. Go away, go away!

A dragon? Perfect! I can help you chase the dragon away. But who are you?

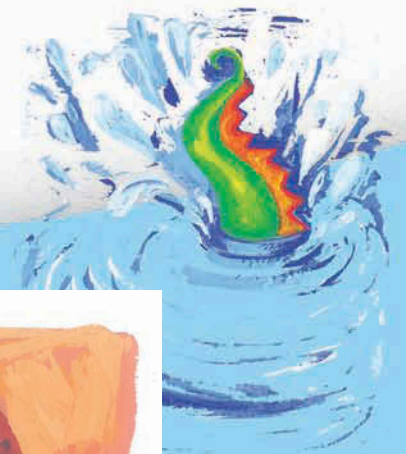

I'm the princess. I want to help my people, but I can't. And you ... you're only one man. How can you help us?

princess

George and the DRAGON

Just take me to the dragon!

So George and the princess walk and walk.

Soon they see a cave.

They hear an awful noise.

They smell an awful smell.

This is the dragon's cave. Shhhh! Don't wake him up!

George and the DRAGON

dragon

Snow and ice, snow and ice!

Ohhh, I'm really angry now!

The dragon wants to throw a fiery breath at George and the princess, but only soft snow comes out of its mouth. Soon, the dragon is freezing! It jumps into the lake and it never comes out again!

Your people are alright now. And you are very brave. Put on this armour and come with me on my journey. We can help the world together!

But the dragon hears them. It gets up and rubs its eyes. It yawns a great, fiery, smelly yawn. And just then, George throws his magic crystals right into the dragon's mouth!

Then George gives the new, shiny armour to the princess.